Filling the seats of Radio City Music Hall for more than 75 years, the show dazzles audiences from around the world with an electrifying cast of more than 140 performers donning original costumes from 1933. The show-stopping numbers performed by the Rockettes such as “Parade of Wooden Soldiers” and “New York at Christmas” feature their signature eye-high kicks and precision tap routines sure to make lasting family memories.

Before or after the performance guests can walk to 5th Avenue, steps from the hotel, where elaborate window displays beckon holiday shoppers into stores with the likes of Bloomingdale’s and Macy’s Herald Square. Visitors will also find Rockefeller Center and its towering tree standing year after year, a holiday classic from the sparkling star atop to the last stand of lights draping the bottom. Another winter tradition in the city offers families fun in the fresh air with a skate on either of the two rinks in Central Park, Lasker Rink, and Wollman Rink.
